There are many beautiful temples and shrines with lots of history.

Let's make the rounds of the historical sites and learn about the local legends.

粉河寺のみどころ

The places you must see at Kokawa Temple.

Kokawa 2787 Kinokawa-shi Wakayama-ken

0736-73-4830 (main temple building)

Free (Payment necessary for entering the main temple building)

Kokawa Temple is one of the thirty-three Saigoku (Kansai region) area pilgrimage sites for the deity Kannon (also known as Guanyin). The great outer gate, inner gate, main temple building, and Senshu-Do are registered as Important Cultural Assets. You will also learn that there is a picture scroll about Kokawa Temple which is a national treasure. You will enjoy the scenic beauty of the garden.

童男堂

Donan-Do

Donan-Do consists of a main building and an auditorium which are painted in red and white. The ceiling and wall paintings are indescribably beautiful. The deity Donan is the main object of worship and a ceremony where Donan is brought out for display is held on December 18th every year.

粉河寺庭園

Kokawa Temple Garden (Nationally Recognized Garden)

This garden is constructed with a variety of exquisite stones found in the Kishu region, such as Crystalline Schist, Purpurite of Kotoura, and Ryumon Rock.

粉河寺中門

Kokawa Temple Inner-Gate (Important Cultural Asset)

This inner gate with a gable roof was made in 1832. As you can see the gate is delicately made from the top to the bottom with high quality wood. This is a building sacred to the Four Devas.

粉河寺大門

Kokawa Temple Great Outer-Gate (Important Cultural Asset)

This gate is registered as an Important Cultural Asset and was built in 1707. It is the most majestic gate in Wakayama next to the ones at Mt. Koya and Negoro Temple. Each side has a wooden standing statue of Kongo RIkishi made by a sculptor of Buddhist images, Kasuga.

旧南丘家住宅

Ex-Minamioka Family House

This building used to be a house for government officials at the end of the Edo Period. The officers who lived here handled the food for the hawks used for falconry. Although this kind of building is barely preserved due to damage over the years, it has great value. In the exhibition room, there are items that were left such as ropes and gloves for training the hawks. You can learn about the history of the official hawk falconry around this area through the materials and tools they actually

粉河寺縁起巻(国宝)

Kokawa Temple Historical Scroll (National Treasure)

This scroll tells you the origin of Kokawa Temple. This is a highly valuable painted scroll with some colors. Its size is about 30 centimeters wide and 20 meters long. It has a series of pictures and explanations. As a whole it tells you about two stories involving miracles. The first part is about the appearance of the deity Kannon and the second part is about the Kawachi family magnate. The real scroll is now preserved in Kyoto National Museum. However, we have 21 stone monuments with pictures and explanations along the street from Kokawa Station to Kokawa Temple.

The camphor tree in front of the Great Outer-Gate has been there for more than a thousand years and is registered by the nature conservation group. This is one of the largest trees in Wakayama Prefecture. It is still standing there as if it was a gatekeeper of the temple. Please come to see it and feel the power of nature under the tree. You may think of the old times it has lived through.

長田観音

Nagata-Kannon-Temple

Besshiyo 58 Kinokawa-shi Wakayama-ken

0736-73-3566

Nagata-Kannon-Temple is famous as the temple that expels evil spirits. Therefore, people call it "ward-off-evil-Kannon" in Japanese. In old times, this temple was the place to pray for the Tokugawa family in the Kishu area. The principle image of this temple is Nyoirin Kannon. Many people visit here on Hatsuuma and Ninouma Festival days. This place is well-known for cherry trees. You can see a lot of Sakura (cherry blossoms) in spring.

鞆渕八幡神社

Tomobuchi-Hachiman-shrine (Important Cultural Asset) Nakatomobuchi 58 0736-79-0198

Although the shrine was originally for a guardian god of the Tomobuchi area in the Shinto religion, in 1228 Princess Tsuruchiyo, who was a woman loved by the emperor, was allowed to possess a division of Iwashimizu Hachimangu-Shrine in Kyoto. They preserved the Mikoshi (portable shrine) called Ikakejiradenkondousoushinyo. This was made in the late Heian period and is registered as a national treasure. You must see the solemn buildings which were built during the Muromachi period.

貴志川八幡神社

Kishigawa-Hachiman-Shrine Kishigawa-cho Kishimiya 1124 0736-64-3114 Free

This shrine is historically important because you can see the relics of the ancient religious rites. It gives us an idea of the Japan-specific religious history and the customs related to it. You probably see the gardens on both sides when you go up to the main building. The decorative rocks there are made from Surpentinite produced around this area.

大国主神社

Okuninushi-Shrine Kishigawa-cho Kunishi 1 Kinokawa-shi Wakayama-ken 0736-64-6775 Free

This shrine is related to the legend of Okuninushi-no-Mikoto in Izumo. Its other name is Okunissan for local people. The main building has a raised-floor-style stage for Shinto music and dance. During the Edo period, this stage was used for divine services. This shrine is famous for their traditional festival Omeshimorimono-Festival.

鎌倉時代から貴志川に伝わる奇祭

The legendary, unique festival of Kishigawa from the Kamakura period.

Omeshimorimono-Festival

Omeshimorimono-Festival is a traditional festival from the end of the Kamakura period. We offer Morimono (Height of approximately five meters, width of three meters. An electric bulb-shaped object made from bamboo wrapped in a straw sheet with rice cakes surrounding it.). It is offered to the god of the festival. It is a very rare ceremony performed in Japan. This festival is recognized by the people of Kinokawa City as a cultural treasure.

名手八幡神社

Nate-Hachiman-Shrine Anabushi 463 Kinokawa-shi Wakayama-ken

0736-75-2477 Free

This shrine surrounded by mighty trees has a row of halls for worship and the main building. People believe that a local guardian deity is there and it helps to support their emotional statements. It holds various seasonal religious services and festivals. It attracts many people to the shrine in the Under Emperor Tenmu's order in 741 Kokubun-temples were established in each of the 60 provinces. There used to be one in Kinokawa-shi. Now, next to the historical site, there is the Historical Folk Museum that shows you the ancient culture, history, and life of Kinokawa City through archaeological materials and artifacts.

春日神社

Kasuga-Shrine

Nakamitani 808 Kinokawa-city Wakayama-ken

0736-77-5706

Kasuga-Shrine is highly valued in the aspect of religion and history. In the early years of the Kamakura period, when an epidemic was a huge problem, they welcomed the divided spirit of Kongo Temple in Nara with the hope that it would drive away the pestilence. The buildings stand quietly in a vast area. They hold an autumn festival in mid-October.

三船神社

Mihune-Shrine (Important Cultural Asset)

Momoyama-cho Koda 101

0736-66-1620 Free

This building was built using a method from the Momoyama era. All three roofs of the building are covered with Japanese cypress bark which is characteristic of this temple. Each construction is in very vivid colors with marvelous sculptures on them. Therefore the value of the buildings themselves is very high.

海神社

Kai-Shrine

Jinryo 272 Kinokawa-city Wakayama-ken

0736-77-3928

Kai-Shrine has been here since the beginning of the Heian period around 794. The deities the shrine is dedicated to are Toyotamahiko-no-Mikoto (God of the Sea from Japanese mythology) and Kunitsuhime-no-Mikoto. An autumn festival is held annually in mid-October.

粉河産土神社

Kokawa-Ubusuna-Shrine Kokawa 2788 Kinokawa-city Wakayama-ken 0736-73-2415

Free

Kokawa-Ubusuna-Shrine's god has been considered a guardian god around the Kokawa area and Kokawa-Temple. Kokawa Festival which is one of the three biggest festivals in Kishu is annually held at this place in the ancient style. The beautiful Kasuga-zukuri construction dates from the middle of the Edo period. People call the mountain behind the shrine Mt. Fumo or Kazaragi, and a sutra mound was found there.

桜池

Sakura Ike (Sakura-Pond)

0736-77-2511

The name "Sakura-Pond" comes from the name of this area Sakurada (Sakura-Field). The first feudal lord in the Kishu area made this pond as a reservoir which is the biggest in Wakayama. Nowadays many people come here for bass fishing from Wakayama and Osaka.

百合山

Mt. Yuri

There are the ruins of an old battlefield and a viewing location on the top. The lovely scenery looking down at the town cannot be missed. The hiking path called "Rekishi-no-Michi" (Path of History) goes under cherry trees and Japanese maple trees. Those trees attract people in spring with cherry blossoms and foliage in autumn. In the beginning of April the Mt. Yuri Flower Festival is held and at the end of November the Mt. Yuri Walk Rally is held every year.
